Section A

Item 1

Read the passage below, and then answer the questions that follow.

The library is a quiet place. We have two librarians who work in shifts. Each librarian works for three days a week. They do not work on Sundays. The library opens at 9:00am and closes at 5:00pm. During this period, all students with a school identity card are allowed to borrow and return books. Every student is allowed to borrow a book and return it on a third day. If any student fails to return the book after the three days, they are punished by being denied books for a week and they have to mop and dust the library.

The library says this is meant to help us to be responsible people in future. The library has a section where books are kept and a section where students can sit and read. While in the library, every student is supposed to maintain silence. The section where books are kept has very many books, and each subject has its own shelf.

There is also a section for dictionaries, atlases, Bibles, Qurans and newspapers. However, we do not take these out of the library; in case a student needs to use them, they ask the librarian for permission to read them from inside the library. We have a library prefect who helps the librarians to monitor the students who borrow books.
