

KEEP CLIMBING

Nothing worth having
comes without a fight.

Some days will break you.
Some nights will make you question
whether the dream is worth the pain.

It is.

Because the hardest roads
often lead to the most beautiful places.

So when you're tired,
rest—but don't surrender.

When you fall,
rise.

When you fail,
learn.

When life tells you
that you can't,

keep going anyway.

One day,
you'll look back at the person
who almost gave up
and realize—

she was already becoming the person she dreamed of being.

The climb is hard.
The reward is worth it.
So keep climbing. ♥